NEWSLETTER 24 – 18th March 2022

Dear Parents, Pupils & Governors,

Tudor Topic – Children in Miss Drissell's class have been exploring the more grisly Tudor events by writing an authentic death warrant for Anne Boleyn on 'parchment' with a quill. Inspired by the artist Shoo Rayner, children have also created detailed drawings of Henry VIII dressed for his 'Field of the Cloth of Gold' meeting. Pupils in Mr Thackway's class have been looking at portraits of Henry VIII, noting how they changed from young Henry to older Henry. They looked closely at Hans Holbein's portrait and noticed what jewels his clothing were encrusted with and how proud, serious and powerful he looked.

Art - Mrs Satchwell's class have been developing their art skills by drawing moving figures using the oval technique to help them with proportion. First, they drew standing figures and then they challenged themselves to move onto figures running, jumping and even doing hand stands.

Ogden Trust Visit - A group of Year 5 children went to Mappleborough Green Primary School for a morning of Physics on Wednesday. They had lots of fun doing experiments to test the viscosity of different liquids and inflated balloons using vinegar and baking soda to make a gas. They also made strawberry and chocolate ice cream just using ice, salt and flavoured milk – the children said it tasted scrumptious!

Work Experience – This week we have welcomed back three ex-Bidford students from Alcester Academy to do their work experience. We hope their time with us has inspired them to become teachers.

Parking – We have received a complaint from Westholme Court as Emergency Services had trouble accessing a resident as cars were parked inconsiderately in the crescent and on the grass. Parents have also been using their car park while collecting/dropping off children. Any vehicles parked there are at risk of being towed away or issued with a fine. A local resident has also raised concerns about parents waiting in cars with their engines idling. Please consider our neighbours when parking near school – a free car park is available at Wards Lane, only a short walk away.
